Home Alone Summer Safety Tips from the City of Douglas Police Department

"Leaving children at home alone during the summer should not be an easy decision," says Police Chief Gary Castelo. "Parents should make every effort to keep their children safe during these summer months by providing a safe environment. Making clear what children are allowed to do and what they are not allowed to do while home alone will help prevent accidents and life threatening injuries."

1

Before leaving your child alone, parents should make sure their child is mature and old enough guidelines which should be followed. Children eight years or younger should not be left alone. Children between the ages of 9 and 12 years, based on level of maturity, may be left alone for brief periods of time (less than 2 hours). Children who are 13 years and older, who are at an adequate level of maturity, may be left alone and may perform the role of babysitter, as authorized by a parent, for up to 12 hours. These guidelines are only for children who are not in DFACS custody, as other foster care guidelines apply to those children.

2

Team up with other adults in their neighborhood to secure a trusted safety environment. Other neighborhood parents may be able to provide some supervision and activity planning or carpooling opportunities to keep children busy. Make sure you keep a chore list up to date and try to enroll the kids in activities during the day.

3

Set up some safety rules for them to follow. Do not answer the door if a stranger knocks, do not allow anyone in the house unless it is someone whom you have approved, screen calls – do not let a caller know they are home alone, do not cook unless a parent has approved it, never leave the house unless a permission is obtained from parent.

4

Post relevant emergency numbers or cell phone numbers.

5

If you own a gun, make sure it is properly secured, locked and stored out of sight.

6

Do not allow friends over or if friends are approved to come over, know who your children's friends are so that you know who your kids are around and "hanging out" with.

7

Keep plenty of quick and easy snacks around the house. No cooking unless it is basic or microwave.

8

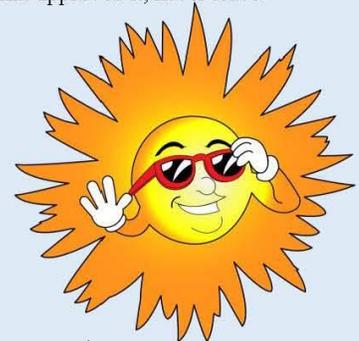

Parents should, unexpectedly, call in at least once a day to check on the kids. If your child is not at home, check-in with a quick text or call. Don't be overbearing.

9

The American Red Cross offers babysitting courses online for older children who are left to tend to their siblings during the day (<http://www.redcross.org/take-a-class/babysitting-child-care>).

10

In case of an emergency, dial 911 first, then mom or dad.

How hot is too hot?

On an 80° day after just 20 minutes, the temperature inside the car can reach 109°.

Never leave a child in the car, even for a quick errand.

- Children's bodies warm 3 to 5 times faster than an adult's. At a core body temperature of 107°, brain cells are damaged and internal organs shut down.
- Leaving the windows open "a crack" does not help.
- If you put something you need in the back seat—like a cell phone, briefcase or purse—you'll be reminded there's a child with you.
- Agree to have your child's care provider or teacher call you immediately if your child does not show up for care or school.
- Always lock your car. Make sure children do not have access to your keys.
